

A young boy and girl are standing in front of a world map. The boy is on the left, wearing a white sailor's cap and a blue and white striped tank top. The girl is on the right, wearing a blue and white striped dress. They are both smiling and holding hands. The background is a world map with various countries and cities labeled. There are two large circular overlays: a blue one on the left and a purple one on the right, both containing text.
